TOLL OF LIFE TO BE HEAVY AS FLOODS SWEEP SOUTH; WATERS INUNDATE TWENTY BLOCKS IN NORTH MEMPHIS

Scenes in North Memphis showing 10,000 sales of cotton on that date out of high water up to second story of houses; gas plant in the distance flooded.

Memphis is entirely demoralized tomorrow because of the flood. Many of her factories are closed, the gas plant has been forced to shut down and everything is most discouraging, but in spite of her troubles, the spirit of the men who have made Memphis what it is, is unbroken. They are meeting the crisis bravely and are already figuring ways and means to prevent for all future time a recurrence of such a flood.

Two hundred workmen narrowly escaped being swept away when an embankment caved in at Milltown, 21 miles west of South Harmon, Arkansas, yesterday.

The town of Modock, near the break, is twenty feet under water. Modock has been almost depopulated and those who remained took to flight when the roar of the water gave warning of its coming.

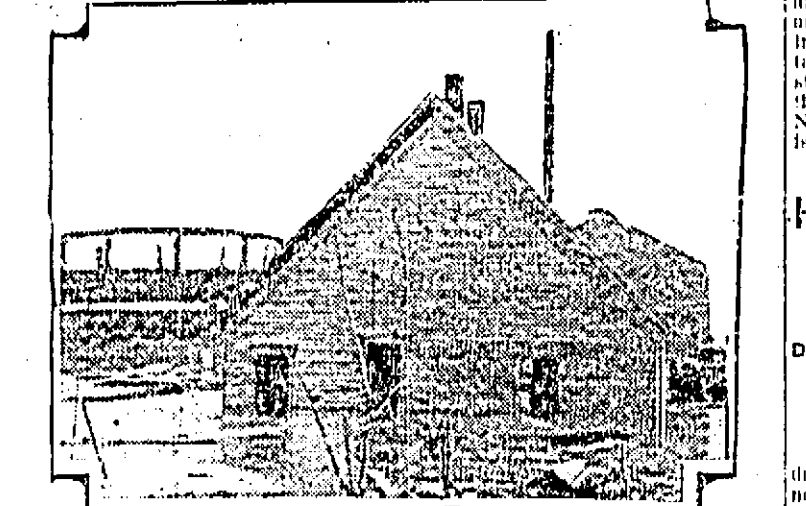

The steamer Kate Adams, was near Modock when the levee broke and rescued one hundred or more panic-stricken negroes from government barges. Later launches sent in the flood and rescued a number of farm hands from the roofs of their cabins and the peaks of knolls which were above water.

The work of caring for the refugees from the lowlands is now being systematized. Tents and supplies have been received from more important points and arrangements have been made for the outfitting of a structural relief headquarters at Helena.

Saved Hundreds. The steamer Kate Adams, which was near Modock when the levee broke, rescued hundreds of lives by taking refugees from rafts and house tops. In the midst of the rescue work the steamer put out a skiff to a woman who sat on the roof of her floating house. She sent back word to the captain that she would not leave unless he would consent to take her dead baby aboard the steamer. Accordingly, she was sent to the floating house. The woman brought out the baby's corpse, placed it in the box and was rowed to the steamer. The little body was brought to Memphis and was buried this afternoon.

One of the Lee line steamers from Arkansas country that reached here today told of a fight with a negro who refused to leave a raft on which he floated unless he was allowed to bring his male. At a last resort the captain of the boat tied the raft bearing the male, behind the steamer, and towed raft, male, negro and all into Memphis.

Hundreds to Memphis. Mississippi river steamers reached Memphis today carrying hundreds of homeless persons from the flood-swept lands of Arkansas in the Modock territory. Many of these report loss of life in several of the small towns that were inundated when the embankment was breached. The refugees arriving today saved none of their personal belongings. Refugees from other flooded districts were brought here today in a half-starved condition. Railways still are without connections to Cairo.

In Louisiana. Baton Rouge, La., April 8.—Citizens of two towns in Louisiana have become flood refugees during the last twenty-four hours. The cryole in the west bank of the Atchafalaya river Saturday night forced those living in Elliot city and Lott to desert their homes. The water has already inundated Elliot City and is today moving toward Lott, situated between Baton Rouge and the river. No loss of life has been reported.

A Slight Fall. St. Louis, April 8.—The Mississippi river was 30.1 feet here today, a slight fall in twenty-four hours, but the water is still above the danger line. At Hannibal the river was nineteen feet, six feet above the flood stage. No great damage has been reported from any point north of here.

At 8:30 Captain Bodd sent word ashore that the fire was under control and the vessel was then hauled aground and apparently in no danger of breaking. The tug "Tasco" with the "Ontario" passengers aboard was then still alongside. It was reported that the passengers would be landed at New London, Conn. A wrecking tug is on its way here from New York.

Although the flames could not be seen, a great cloud of steam arose from the burning ship and spread a haze along the water front for miles. Captain Bodd told the life savers that the fire was confined entirely to the hold. A light east wind, and there was a little rain. The hull of the vessel was badly blistered on the outside.

The life savers were reinforced by a crew from Hither Plain, a station two miles away, who transferred the passengers to a small tug and stood off in readiness to take the crew ashore, if need be.

Long before daylight there had appeared a dozen holes through the pilot house and water was pumped in by the vessel's own engine in to the hold. At six o'clock Captain Bodd sent word ashore that the fire had been quenched.

The fire broke out during the night and became so threatening that shortly after two o'clock this morning Captain Bodd ordered the wireless operator to send "RDS" distress signals. An hour later he turned back in his course and drove the vessel full speed ahead for the beach at Montauk Point.

Through the early morning hours the wireless uttered distress signals along the entire North Atlantic coast with news of the vessel's danger. Ten minutes later men at this station saw the ship on the rocks and hurried off with a beach party apparatus and later dragged their surf boat on its track three miles over the beach to the burning steamer.

HORSES RACE UNDER NEW RULE FOR 1912

Prizes Awarded According to Average of Points and Winner Must Have Won Three Heats.

At a meeting of the American Trotting Association, held on February 20, the rules for racing were radically changed. The change which shows the most difference is in the methods of scoring. Where in the past the horse winning one heat was given the race provided none of the others took a heat, the horse having the lowest average is now to be given the race. For example should a horse take the first heat and then run eighth or ninth for the rest of the six heats the average is taken and the position awarded to place won in the six heats.

This ruling is to keep the horses off from the tracks which used to be used for only one heat and then allowed to lag for some time. No horse is not able to run his best during the whole six heats can be entered and win anything new and the change will be welcomed by the horsemen who have really good horses.

MANY LAID OFF ON ACCOUNT OF SLACK

Lack of Work and Light Business Over This Division Causes General Lay-off—Hours Shortened.

Men are gradually being laid off at the yards until it begins to look as if there would only be enough left in a short time to turn the engines around and make the necessary repairs when they are being sent out these days and the freight is not running nearly as heavy as it did this time last year.

This condition of affairs is thought by most of the people concerned to be caused by the shifting of business over the new road. Four regular trains were taken off from this run and sent around that way and now most of the extras are being taken by way of Wyeville and Butler, which would otherwise come over this division.

Business is slack in many places this year and forces are being cut down in the shops and round houses. At Chicago Avenue the shop force has been gradually laid off until now there are but two machinists where there are usually between ten and twenty on the job.

Aside laying off the employees at South Janesville the company has today cut down the hours from nine to eight for a day's work. This does not give the men a very long time to work and consequently a smaller wage.

Although the freight traffic has been dropping off rapidly since the opening up of the new road, the passenger traffic is heavier now than it has ever been at this time of year before.

Stationary Engineer Bert Deinet returned to work this morning after a week's vacation.

Chief Boiler Maker McDermott laid off today and is not expected to return to work for a day or so.

William Sullivan handed in his resignation as a member of the ball team the other day much to the regret of Manager R. K. Smith who will have to hunt up another player to fill his place.

T. J. Lawson returned to work at the roundhouse this morning and took up his duties as machinist after a two week's lay off on account of sickness. Although not in condition to enter the rig Mr. Lawson seemed glad to get back again.

Storkeeper Frank Hennessey left for Milwaukee Saturday noon where he stayed until this noon on a short vacation. During his absence Frank Ward, who is time keeper, in his spare moments, ran the office. Frank also worked Sunday and was on the job this morning.

AIR BRAKE INSTRUCTION CAR TAKEN TO MADISON.

Left Yesterday After Short Visit in This City During Which Many Attended Lectures.

Local engineers were given a treat last week Saturday in having the air brake car in the city accompanied by a lecturer. The car was taken to Madison yesterday on the back end of train No. 565, where the lectures will be given for the benefit of the engineers and trainmen there. Conductor Devoe and Fireman Hennessey were in the Capital City yesterday and will probably attend the meetings held in the car.

Among those who have taken "pool" jobs out of Chicago are three local men, Fireman Wilkins, Slebert and Gruntz, who will be there from now on.

Down-town Call Boy William McDonald has accepted the position of car clerk and the train crews who live here will not have the pleasure of hearing Bill's melodious voice over the wire getting them up when they are in the middle of a pleasant nap. Instead, they will hear Edward J. Sullivan, who has been promoted to succeed Bill. Edward has been employed as helper at the roundhouse and appreciated the change of air which the new job will give him.

It has been reported that some changes have been made in the operating department of the Wisconsin division lately although no official announcement has been made. According to the rumors Superintendent G. W. Daly has been in his residence. Should this be accepted, present Assistant Superintendent Frank O'Brien will become superintendent and Trainmaster Morgan will be advanced to his assistant.

Henry Bergman, who laid off last week on account of sickness, handed in his resignation this morning when he arrived at the yards.

Work is expected to be completed on engine 337 within a few days. No new engines have been brought into the shops for heavy repairs for over a week.

John Ames has been appointed to succeed Edward Sullivan as helper at the roundhouse.

The Watertown switch engine went back to work this morning after being here laid up for a week past.

Machinist Simpson Lawson is taking a short lay off for a few days.

TWO OFFICES BROKEN OPEN BY BURGLARS

Offices of Hemming Ale Brewery and J. P. Cullen Company Entered Last Saturday Night.

Thieves last Saturday night forced an entrance into the offices of William Hemming and Son's ale and brewery on North Franklin street, and the J. P. Cullen Company on North Main street. The sum of $1.45 was taken from the cash register in the brewery office but nothing was found missing at the office of the Cullen Company. The visit of the thieves was discovered yesterday morning when the offices were opened.

Entrance to the brewery office had been obtained by knocking out a glass window near the door enabling the thieves to lift the latch. To pull out the cash register drawer it was necessary to press a lever which also rang the bell. A few pennies there and in another drawer were left undisturbed.

At the Cullen Company factory the thieves had broken open a window in the machine shop and tried to reach the office from the inside but found their progress blocked by a heavy locked door which they evidently did not choose to force. They had then left the building and with chisels secured there broke a pane out of the office window. Nothing in the office had been disturbed and it is probable that the thieves may have been frightened away while at work as they left the tools lying underneath the window. Blood-stains on the window sill in the machine shop indicate that one of the house-breakers cut his hand when breaking the pane.

Chief of Police Applegate, who investigated both cases, is of the opinion that they are the work of boys. No clues to their identity have yet been secured.

WEATHER MAN CRUEL TO EASTER BONNETS

Gaiety of the Annual Parade Was Somewhat Lessened by the Chilly Breeze.

Augmented by a brief period of real spring weather, Easter Sunday forth in preparation for the glory of its gorgeous attire Saturday and penetrated every nook and cranny of the business district. The gloomy season broke through its love with a surging tide of shoppers that completely submerged the limited area immediately surrounding the millinery stores and florists' shops. Swirling streams of spring hats and turbans, tumbling torrents of easter gowns poured over the crowded district. Whirling eddies of lilies, hyacinths, sweet peas and violets, fugaciously speaking, ate their way through the business district and spread over the residential section where they brought happiness and good cheer to many Janesville folk Sunday morning.

The only disappointing feature which marred the glory of Sunday was the thoughtlessness of the weather man in the manipulation of his controlling levers, when he brought three days of real, balmy spring weather to an abrupt close and chased the mercury down into the bulb of the thermometer with another touch of frigid temperature.

Cold, windy weather made a marked impression upon the dress of folk in Janesville society, but the change in temperature was a little too late to affect Easter shopping. There was a time when one could stroll Easter with three letters—E-A-T—but those days are gone, and now it takes almost a trunkful of gowns, gloves, parasols and all sorts of accessories have been added to the list. Floral shops, too, have come in for a prominent part in the stimulation of trade about Easter time and potted lilies and other flowers are beginning to be considered as important for Easter as the fir tree is at Christmas time.

The day of the old fashioned Easter egg has gone, according to statements by some of the local dealers. The confectionary stores have about run them out of business in this direction and the increase on Easter over ordinary days is hardly noticeable. The days of the egg hunt and the egg-eating contest at breakfast time have been succeeded by the present era of candy eggs. Now "Mother" buys "Willie" a chocolate egg with cream filling and he is perfectly satisfied.

Cigar Makers Left Town.

The force of cigar makers employed at the El Inalto manufactory who walked out last week, having failed to come to an agreement with the management according to their terms have all left town. The trouble, it is given out, is due to the fact of one man being discharged Monday morning, hence the walkout the next day. The walkout is in compliance with the rules of the local union and is considered unjust. The manufactory will continue and union men only will be given employment.

THE OPENING WEDGE
With the opening of the dyacent theatre on Sunday, the opening wedge for a wide open city seven days a week was given its impetus. By recording the ordinance which forbade Sunday entertainments, the council gave each permission for all sorts of forms of amusement on Sundays in the future. The fact remains, however, that in this matter the council is not supreme. That even though they may believe they have settled the question once and for all, there is still a mightier power to cope with them that created by even the most liberal city charter ever granted. What is the state constitutional convention and the state of Wisconsin was formally organized the Sunday closing law was discussed and placed upon the statute books. It is there today and legislature since that time has even attempted to take it off. Back of it all is the great command given to Moses on the Mount: "Remember the Sabbath day, to keep it holy. Six days shalt thou labor and do all thy work, but the seventh day is the Sabbath of the Lord thy God; in it thou shalt not do any work, thou nor thy son, nor thy daughter, nor thy man-servant, nor the maid servant, nor the cattle, nor the stranger that is within thy gates, for in six days the Lord made heaven and earth, the sea and all the world, and rested the seventh day; wherefore the Lord blessed the Sabbath day, and hallowed it."

The common council has acted wisely in rescinding the ordinance, but the fact remains the state law is still in force and should anyone desire to bring action under this law to compel the observance of the law there could be no quibble about it, and the penalty would be more severe than under the old ordinance. It is one of the problems the new commission must face and a responsibility they can not shirk. Observance of the laws of the state.

THE HOME LIFE.
You fathers and mothers do not realize the responsibility that rests upon you in your own little household. Your responsibility extends farther than merely seeing your family clothed, fed and educated. You have a moral responsibility that you should consider carefully. The making of good men and women rests in your hands and the plant little minds that have been entrusted to your care must be directed in the right direction. Do you make your home a place where they delight to stay? Do you make their little friends your friends, knowing with whom they play and what they do? Do you take the pains to explain to them matters which they should know and not have them learn them from an outside source? If not, you should sit down by your self and think it all out and come face to face with your responsibility. The minds of these little people run in strange channels. Straighten out the tangles for them, help them over the rough places, have patience with their questions, be interested in their school work, their play.

Norman E. Mack, in his National Monthly, tells the following little tale of John, who is a small boy and the youngest of a minister's family:

As a punishment for some misdeed at the table, it was decided that John must not eat with the family at the next meal.

So his dinner was placed on a small table at the end of the dining room.

When all were seated, the minister said:

"Now, John, you should not be blessing before you eat."

"This was a new duty to John, but he bowed his head and said reverently:

"Our Father in heaven, Thou prepared a table before me in the presence of mine enemies. Thanks for the food. Amen."

While the council was about it why did they not incorporate some of the recommendations of Chief Klein relative to overhead wiring, into the city ordinances. This would have been of some practical value to the city as a whole and might some day prevent a serious loss of life should a big fire start in the downtown section. However, the recommendations of a prominent fire prevention association is in the hands of the Commercial club and will doubtless be taken up with the new commission.

One problem that the business men of the city should interest themselves in is a public playground for the children. Other cities have such places. They are advocated by all societies which take up the question of the children, and yet Janesville is backward in this respect. It will prohibit all sorts of things, permit others which are pernicious, but to give the average boy or girl an opportunity to play is denied.

It is not a bit too early to take up that discussion of the band concerts during the summer months. Perhaps now it may be possible to subsidize the local band as a municipal organization and appropriate the money necessary out of the city treasury since the old charter provisions appear to be abolished. Anyway, let's have concerts this coming summer.

High water this spring is working wonders cleaning off the unsightly river banks with their accumulation of refuse which all the ordinances on the city books evidently could not enforce. Even floods have their benefits it would appear.

Whoever is named as health officer it is to be hoped that he will see to it that the streets and alleys are kept clean and garbage is not dumped on vacant lots to become a breeding place for germs.

Janesville had its Easter display despite the chill winds. However, many a woman shivered as she paraded with her new hat and spring suit and wished for winter coat and tux.

Local business men are still debating whether it will be spring, summer or winter, and wondering what to do with their stock of spring goods. "Man proposes but God disposes."

CANTATA WAS GIVEN AT CLINTON CHURCH

Story of The "Centurion" Beautifully Rendered at Congregational Church Last Evening.
(Special to the Gazette.)

Clinton, April 8.—The Easter music at the Congregational church last night was one of the finest programs ever rendered in Clinton. The first number was a song by the ordinary class, after which the choir of twelve voices delivered in four parts the story of the "Centurion." Rev. Cary read the descriptive parts. Every piece was rendered most beautifully and artistically. The solos by Mr. and Mrs. Herron were particularly well rendered and greatly enjoyed. The organ playing by Mrs. Caroline L. Hatch was exceptionally fine. It is a credit to Clinton to possess such a number of finished musicians.

At St. Mary's Church.

Very appropriate and impressive Easter services were held at St. Mary's church, of which Rev. J. J. McGinley, formerly of St. Patrick's church at Janesville, is now pastor. There were two masses, the first at 8:30, and the second at 10:30. At each of these masses Rev. Father McGinley delivered an eloquent sermon in his usual able manner. The music was in charge of Miss Mary McBride, Mrs. W. J. McBride presiding at the organ. A new mass, by Alph. Drees in "C" was rendered by a choir of ten voices. The singing was very good and impressive, showing great care in rehearsing. The decorations were especially beautiful, carnations and Easter lilies being used in profusion. A beautiful new statue of the Sacred Heart, presented by the Young Ladies' Sodality, was seen for the first time on Easter Sunday.

I Tell You There's Only One Best Paint and That's High Standard

"Why?"

"I'll tell you why: It's because the makers have been studying High Standard paint-making for nearly forty years; because the materials that are used in this paint are the finest that the market affords; because they are proportioned with the greatest accuracy and care, and are mixed and ground by the finest machines."

"Because all High Standard products are submitted to a most severe practical test extending over a number of years, to prove their permanency of color and wearing and protecting power."

"What's a few cents more per gallon, especially when you can know in advance that you are going to get the best paint satisfaction that can be secured?" And besides, because of its greater spreading power it means dollars less for the entire job."

Chi-Namel Demonstration AT THE CHI-NAMEL STORE

— ON —

Thursday, Friday and Saturday, April 11th, 12th, 13th

We have the sales agency for the line of all-purpose varnish, which is so far ahead of any varnish that has ever been sold in this community, that we particularly desire an early opportunity to show its good points to some member of every household in our business district.

What we want you to know about this wonderful varnish is something that cannot be told; but we can show you in a very few minutes that you get more for your money every time by using Chi-Namel Varnish for floors, woodwork, furniture, or anything about the house on which varnish is used.

This varnish is furnished in the natural color and also in a full variety of colors. It can be hammered and boiled and otherwise abused without showing any signs of abuse. Any amateur can apply it to large surfaces and get just as smooth a finish as a professional finisher—no laps, no brush marks, no blotches to make a patchy appearance.

You will thank us for this invitation after you have come to know all about it.

Other features we want to show you are the Chi-Namel Ready-to-Use Graining Process, by which you can cover all blemishes in your old floors and make them any color you wish, and also produce the grain of oak or other woods.

Old carpets can be made into rugs and a new hardwood border will take the place of the ugly flooring at a cost of but 2c per square foot.

We will gladly explain all these features at our store if you give us the opportunity.

THEATRES OPENING DEFIED STATE LAW

FIRST SUNDAY SINCE ORDINANCE WAS RESCINDED SEES DOORS THROWN OPEN.

GOOD CROWDS ATTEND

Some Talk Heard of Enforcement of the State Law in This Respect.

Janesville celebrated Easter Sunday afternoon and evening by the throwing open of the doors of the five-cent theatres and several hundred persons attended the performances given both afternoon and evening. The action of the council in rescinding the old ordinance at a recent meeting brought this condition to a focus and the result was the apparent defiance of the state law which regulates this matter. That some radical steps will be taken to prevent this opening of theatres from becoming a regular affair is evidenced by the interest which is being taken in the matter by several prominent citizens. The local Milwaukee association is to hold a meeting tomorrow morning to discuss what action they will take and it is known that one prominent attorney has offered his services to prosecute should the case be taken up.

In this connection the following extract from the state law will be interesting to note. These notes were prepared by a prominent attorney who is much interested in the matter, and handles the matter in the following manner:

"Section 4555. Any person who shall keep open his shop, warehouse or workhouse, or shall do any manner of labor, business or work, except only works of necessity and charity, or be present at any dancing or public diversion, show or entertainment, or take part in any sport, game or play on the first day of the week shall be punished by fine not exceeding ten dollars; and such day shall be understood to include the time between the midnight preceding and the midnight following the said day, and no civil process shall be served on said day."

The statute provides that it shall be the duty of the sheriff to keep the peace in the county, and he is the superior officer of the county in that respect and superior to police, constables and all other officers.

Section 727 provides as follows: "Sheriffs and their undersheriffs and deputies shall keep and preserve the peace in their respective counties, quiet and suppress all affrays, riots, unlawful assemblies and disturbances, for which purpose, and for the service of process in civil or criminal cases and in the apprehending or securing any person for felony or breach of the peace they and every constable and constables may call to their aid such persons or power of their county as they may deem necessary."

It is the duty of the sheriff to suppress prize-fights, baseball games, the open theatre, as unlawful assemblies, and to arrest and confine those who violate the law, and it is the duty of the district attorney of the county to prosecute such offenders at the expense of the people. And the law not only gives the people this protection, but a grand jury may be summoned for the purpose of finding indictments against law-breakers, and where it comes to the knowledge of the district attorney it is his duty to ask the court to call such grand jury.

"The attendance at the five-cent theatres yesterday was quite satisfactory considering the fact that the public had not been informed in advance," is the statement of the management of the Janesville-Janesville company, owners of the "Royal," "Allie" and "Majestic" theatres. "All three of the theatres were open afternoon and evening and the programs were greeted by the fair-haired houses."

The management also stated today that the opportunity of seeing a good motion picture show on Sunday, which many persons, is a day for amusement and pleasure. Remarks made at the ticket office and to the attendance of the three theatres indicated that the public—the motion picture public, a portion of it at least—was pleased and satisfied with the action taken by the local theater companies in opening their doors for Sunday shows.

The programs presented at the theatres yesterday were as follows: At the Lyric: "Captain Rivers's Reward," a Kalem film with an interesting southern California story; "Rout at Evil," a Biograph drama, and an illustrated song by Mrs. Kneff.

At the Majestic the program consisted of "The Animated Weekly," a film giving a pictured record of current events, similar to the Pathé Weekly film; "A Baby's Vow," a Thelma Houston musical drama, and the illustrated song.

At the Royal the vaudeville numbers were the same as those who occupied the boards the latter half of last week. O. L. Fritz, mirth and melody, and Von Serley sisters, singers and dancers; two new films were shown, "A Bad Investment," "A Jew in Scotland."

"It is our plan," was the further statement of the management, "to show pictures at the Sunday shows which will teach good moral lessons. There are many films of this sort released every week which possess more than the usual touch of morality and beauty. We endeavored yesterday and will carry out the idea still further in the future to adapt our numbers as far as possible to make it appropriate for the day. We will raise the moral standard of our Sunday shows in every way possible and we believe that our efforts will meet with the approval of the public."

It was also given out by the management today that arrangements had been made to close each of the theatres for one day during the week in order to give the employees a day of rest and recreation. As now arranged, the Lyric theater will be dark Monday, the Majestic on Tuesdays, and the Royal on Thursdays, as soon as the contract can be altered to allow for this arrangement.

PUNISHED FOR USING ABUSIVE LANGUAGE

Robert Courtney Pleads Guilty to Charge and is Sentenced to Fifteen Days in Jail.

Robert Courtney, arrested Saturday afternoon on the charge of using abusive and threatening language in the presence of his sister-in-law Mrs. Thomas Courtney, and held for trial on his plea of not guilty, changed his plea to "guilty" this morning and was sentenced to fifteen days imprisonment in the county jail.

Courtney denied having any knowledge of using bad language to Mrs. Courtney or even seeing her last Saturday. He said that she had always treated him well and there was absolutely no reason why he should become angry at her. As he had no witnesses to testify in his defense and was not sure of his own actions in an intoxicated condition, Courtney was unable to deny having come upon him but served a sentence for a similar offense. Judge Field did not see fit to grant his request that he be allowed to have his freedom on taking the pledge for a year.

WORK PROGRESSING ON Y. M. C. A. CIRCUS

Fine Program Has Been Arranged Which Will Be Given at the High School on April 24th.

Physical Director Hartwell is bringing out arrangements for the mammoth circus a close and is making preparations for one of the biggest things of the kind which has ever been put on the Y. M. C. A. in the city. April 24, is the date which has been set for the big event and the participants are working hard on their parts. The arena which has been chosen as the scene of the circus will be the High School gymnasium and it is expected that the seating capacity of that place will be stretched to its limit.

Exhibitions by the different classes in their apparatus work will be filled in by a large number of specialties and acrobatic feats which will make the circus well worth the price of admission. Hair raising feats by some of the acrobats of the Association and also splitting acts by the dozens of funny clowns will have their part in making the circus a big success.

All of the members of the Y. M. C. A. who have not been attending their classes are requested to do so in order that they may be better prepared for the big event. All classes will have a part in the circus and there will be considerable competition between the classes to see which can put up the best showing at the exhibition. The proceeds of the circus will go toward renewing the equipment of the gymnasium which will have to have some new apparatus.

HOUSEHOLD TALKS

by Henrietta
D. Grauel

All flours are not suitable for cake baking; winter wheat flour, known as pastry flour, must always be used for the more delicate cakes.

For angel, sunflower and all sponge mixtures, sift the flour once and then measure, and add dry ingredients and mix again. When substituting cream of tartar and soda for baking powder, use in the proportion of one teaspoon of cream of tartar to one-half teaspoon of soda, which will be sufficient for a cake of ordinary size. Do not mix the two powders together and add to the flour as with flour, but mix the soda with the flour and put the cream of tartar in the whites of the eggs.

Cakes made with cream of tartar and soda are lighter and stay moist longer than those made with soda.

Soft sugars are best for cake making and all sugar should be sifted once.

Eggs must be beaten separately until light, the whites usually are, but few persons take the time to beat the yolks to a froth. When the butter for cakes is hard, warm the sugar before mixing—this will soften the butter and it can be mixed.

Cakes that contain butter and milk should be beaten thoroughly after the flour is added; with sponge cakes and all mixtures that do not contain butter omit all beating, folding the ingredients in lightly; every stroke of the mixer tends to break the air cells and make sponge cakes tough.

When baking for the cake rise to the full height and then increase the heat and brown over. If cake browns too soon as it is put in the oven it can not rise to its full lightness.

Angel cake—Nine large eggs whipped to a foam and a teaspoon of cream of tartar added. One and one-fourth cups of sifted sugar added to above after being sifted with one cup of flour, flavor and bake in from twenty to thirty minutes.

Silver cake—Beaten whites of six eggs, three-fourths of a cup of butter, one-half cup of sweet milk, two and a half cups of flour, two and a half teaspoons of baking powder, or a teaspoon of cream of tartar and a half teaspoon of soda. Flavor and beat vigorously, bake in a slow oven thirty minutes.

Sponge cake—Five large or six small eggs, one and a half cups of sifted sugar and a half cup of flour. Beat the eggs separately until they are as light as possible, add three-fourths of a teaspoon of cream of tartar to the beaten eggs and mix all together lightly.

Chocolate loaf—Three eggs beaten separately, one and a half cups of granulated sugar, one-half cup of butter, three-fourths cups sweet milk, two and a half cups of pastry flour, two and a half teaspoons of baking powder. Dissolve two squares of chocolate in the milk and cook, then mix as directed for all butter cakes and bake about forty minutes.

Layer cake—Three eggs beaten separately, one and a half cups of granulated sugar, three-fourths of a cup of butter, one-half of a cup of milk, three cups of flour and three teaspoons of baking powder. Mix and bake in three layers and fill as desired.

The Evening Chit-Chat

BY RUTH CAMERON

MRS. ELLA FLAGG YOUNG, of Chicago, the woman who is superintendent of the schools of one of the largest cities in the country, may more, in the world, and who was awarded that office despite the keenest of competition from the best male educators in the country, has now proven her right to this great position.

At least in my opinion.

For Mrs. Young has come out with the statement that the building up of the bodies of the pupils of the public schools is MORE IMPORTANT than the training of the mind.

"We have come to believe," says Mrs. Young, "that it is more important to build the body of the youth, until it is as near physical perfection as possible, than to devote so much time towards development in mental attainments."

I wish that every mother in this land might read and ponder well over that statement.

Especially every mother of daughters between the ages of ten and twenty-one.

I was visiting a woman recently who has a daughter fifteen years old in the last year of high school. She brought out the girls' report card to show to me. It was almost all "A's" with a few sprinkling of "B's."

She was evidently very proud of this card. Myself I think she should have been ashamed of it. For the girl is a puny, undeveloped, undernourished, stooped-shouldered, colorless little caricature of a girl. And the report card was the symbol of the reason for all this.

It almost makes me want to cry when I see mothers and fathers allowing and even encouraging their children to sell gold for dress in this way.

How can they be so blind or cruel?

Is it success you want for your daughters, Oh mothers?

Then know that brilliant report cards, anxiously studied lessons will not do one tenth as much to bring it to them as normal healthy bodies and a reserve of strength.

Is it happiness you want for your daughters, Oh mothers?

Then know that nothing can do so much to bring it to them as a healthy attractive body, the beauty of health and the sanity and power of it.

I know two girls who have always given more thought to mental than to physical development, and who have been brilliantly successful in school and college. These girls have married recently. Under the strain of married life, which should not be any strain to the normal woman, one girl has broken down so that she has had to give up her pretty little home and go to boarding, and another has become so nervous and irritable that the patience of a pretty good man has been tried to the breaking point, and a disruption of the marriage is actually threatened.

Oh mothers, please don't take this as the mere mechanical ranting of a newspaper writer. It's much more than that. It's the heartfelt word of one who knows.

Please believe me and save your daughters from the inefficient, unsatisfactory lives, for which they may be preparing by their folly.

No matter what the teachers may say, don't allow your girls, especially those between twelve and sixteen, to study more than two hours a day out of school. There's no possible need of it. If your daughter can't keep up with her classes that way, just let her drop behind. That's no disgrace, not half so much a disgrace as an undeveloped body would be. But I don't think there would be any danger of dropping behind.

And in the time that she does not study, see that she is out of doors as much as possible. Woods, Hutchinson, says that everyone ought to have at least three hours a day of outdoor exercise. Does your daughter get this? Does she get half this? Does she get outdoors at all, except the walk to and from school?

These are questions that I wish every mother in the country could ask herself, and if the answer is not satisfactory, make it so.

UP-TO-DATE HOUSEKEEPING.

Rhubarb or Pie Plant in Plain or Fancy Pies and Desserts.

By Alice E. Whitaker.

While the appetite craves acid in the spring it is not always safe for every one to eat all sorts of fruit and vegetable acids. Rhubarb for instance, so agreeable to many people contains oxalic acid and is not good for a person inclined to gout and rheumatism although it is a common belief that acids are good for those suffering from that form of disease.

The very small pink stalks of rhubarb found in the market early in the season are a forced growth and much more delicate than that grown in the garden later. The varieties of rhubarb are many and there is also a great difference in size of stalk ranging from that called the "miniature" to a variety not much larger than a lead pencil.

The pink rhubarb appeals most to the cook and it needs no peeling; the green variety should have the peel removed from the flat side. All rhubarb is improved if it is cut and the sugar added and allowed to stand two or three hours; the sugar will dissolve in the rhubarb juices.

One of the best ways of cooking rhubarb is to place it in a casserole or baking dish and set in the oven until soft. Do not cook much at a time for the finest flavor is lost after standing a day. Allow half as much sugar by measure as rhubarb, cut into half inch pieces.

Rhubarb pies are of three kinds, covered, open and latticed, and last with a top crust only. Some cooks add a meringue to an open rhubarb pie but to my taste meringue or a garnish of whipped cream do not belong with this sort of pastry.

In preparing the stalks for a pie trim off the leaf and root and peel as directed. If green, or if pink cut at once into half inch pieces. Mix one level tablespoon of cornstarch with the amount of sugar added and this will thicken the juice as the pie cooks.

For the filling of an open rhubarb pie chop the stalks and to each one cup of rhubarb add one level teaspoon of cornstarch and one-half cup of sugar. Or allow two cups of chopped rhubarb, one and one-quarter cups of sugar mixed with two level tablespoons of flour, the beaten yolks of two eggs and two teaspoons of melted butter.

Line a plate with good paste, fill and bake. Cool partly and cover with a meringue made from the whites of two eggs beaten stiff and dry with two level tablespoons of powdered sugar. Heap roughly on the pie and color in a slow oven.

Rhubarb and raisin pie is a favorite with some tastes. Chop one-half pound of rhubarb, add three-quarters cup of seeded raisins one cup of sugar one well beaten egg. Bake between two crusts.

Rhubarb jelly that will keep must be made not earlier than late in August because not until that time does it develop the jelly-making quality. However a jelly to be served the same day is made by the addition of gelatin. Cut the rhubarb into two inch pieces without peeling, cover with water and set where it will cook slowly until tender. Strain through cheese cloth and keep the juice hot.

While the rhubarb is cooking soak one rounding tablespoon of gelatin in two tablespoons of cold water and turn on to two cups of hot juice. Stir until the gelatin is dissolved, add one and one-half cups of sugar and strain again into small molds. When firm unmold and serve.

For a rhubarb Charlotte butter a baking dish generously and line with strips of buttered bread cut half an inch thick and one inch wide. These will fit well around the dish. Now fill the dish with alternate layers of rhubarb cut thin and very thin slices of bread cut buttered. Scatter sugar liberally over the rhubarb; make the top layer of bread then cover closely and set in a slow oven for three hours.

Let stand half an hour before serving. Invert on a plate and it should keep its form after the baking dish is lifted off. Serve with a hard sauce.

ANXIETY, worry and fretting destroy nutrition by ruining the digestion and preventing assimilation of the nutriment in the food. Whatever affects the brain cells, the nutritive centers of the body, affects the health, the life.

Worry or anxiety injures certain cells of the brain, often beyond repair. The supply of nerve nutriment is cut off, and all the normal processes of the body are disarranged and disordered while one is troubled or anxious. That is why worry kills.

A FEW FILLINGS FOR CAKES.

For a quick filling and icing, use the white of an egg, a teaspoonful of lemon juice, and a cup of powdered sugar. Stir well together and beat five minutes. Add more sugar if not stiff enough.

Pineapple Filling—Add to stiff beated frosting a tablespoonful of gelatin dissolved in a little pineapple juice, a half cup of grated pineapple and enough lemon juice to make it pleasantly tart.

Fruit Filling—A cup of seeded raisins, half a pound of blanched almonds, half a pound of chopped dates and a fourth of a pound of finely minced citron (all put through the meat chopper is a saving of time), then add enough beated frosting to make a smooth paste and sufficient quantity.

Caramel Filling—To a pound of light brown sugar add a half cup of milk and a tablespoonful of butter. Boil until it makes a soft ball in water. Cool without stirring, then heat to a cream, adding a teaspoonful of vanilla or other flavoring and chopped fruit or nuts as desired.

Coffee Filling—To a cup of hot milk add two tablespoonfuls of cornstarch and a half teaspoonful of butter, the yolks of two eggs beaten with a half cup of strong coffee and a half cup of sugar. Return to the fire and cook until thick; cool before using.

Egg Filling—Cook a pound of flax, chopped, in three-fourths of a cup of water and a half cup of sugar. Stir and simmer until smooth; add a tablespoonful of lemon juice, cool and spread between the layers of cake.

Grated chocolate added to beated frosting flavored with vanilla is a good and quick filling to prepare.

"APPETITE JUICE."

"Appetite juice," the refreshing food, has been shown to have an important influence on digestion, but recent experiments have shown that this has been overestimated.

If there is a real need of food, anything will taste good and be fully digested. This is well known to anyone who has fasted for several days till a natural appetite comes. If there is no need for food it will be necessary to tempt the appetite, and then only highly seasoned foods will be acceptable. Feeding the sick on this basis has been shown to be an error.

Heart and Home Problems

by
MRS. ELIZABETH THOMPSON

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am sixteen years of age and go with a boy of whom my mother approves. A neighbor has been talking about it because she thinks I am too young. Ought she to interfere as long as I have my mother's approval?

DEBBY.

A girl of sixteen is rather young to give all her time to one young man, or to attend evening functions unchaperoned. However, a wise mother's judgment counts for more than convention, and if you feel sure of your mother's wisdom you need not be influenced by what your neighbor says.

My Dear Mrs. Thompson: Please tell me how to remove a rootbeer stain from a blue silk dress without spoiling the goods.

LAURA B.

There is but one way to have the stain removed without great danger of ruining your dress. Experience has taught me that it is true economy to take anything of that sort to a first-class dry-cleaning establishment.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1) Will tan serge coats trimmed in black and white striped material be worn this spring? (2) Do you know a good remedy for freckles? TANNY.

(1) The black and white diagonal stripe is a popular trimming, and is used in combination with tan as well as other colors. (2) Almost any cream or ointment is likely to prove ineffectual and harmful to the skin. Among those most commonly used are lemon juice, solution of hydrogen peroxide, sour milk and butter milk. The last named is probably as harmless as any.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1) How can I clean an old rose satin dress and a red satin dress? (2) How can my mother reduce her flesh? (3) What is good for chapped face and hands?

ANXIOUS E. L.

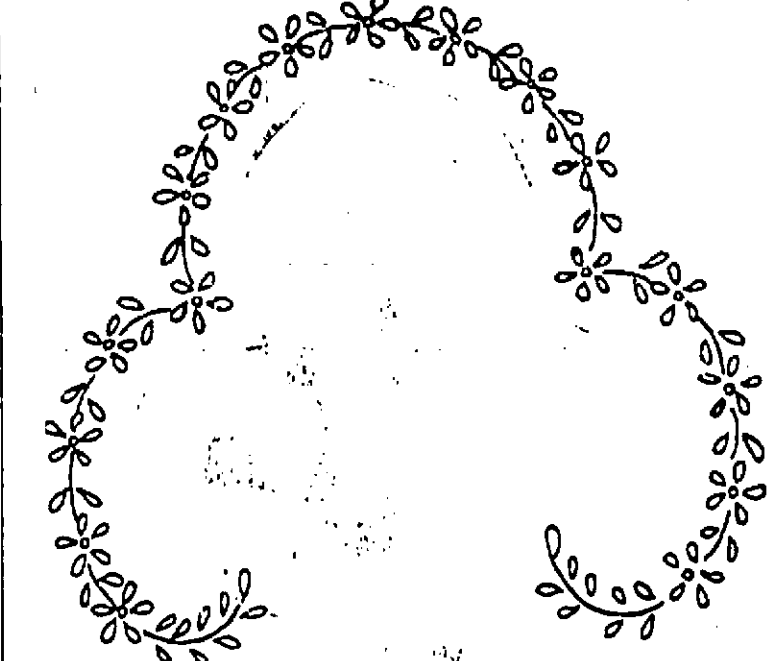

(1) In each case soak the dress and wash it thoroughly in about a gallon of gasoline. (2) The best way to reduce flesh is to diet and exercise. Avoid sweet, fatty and starchy foods, and heavy eating, and walk a great deal. (3) An excellent remedy for chapped skin is the following prescription: One ounce glycerin; two ounces bay rum; twenty drops carbolic acid; one-fourth ounce extract of white rose.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: Please tell me how much a Lincoln penny with initials on it is worth. (2) When will one-half pennies come out? ROY.

(1) The Lincoln pennies with initials on them are worth only one cent. (2) Nobody knows whether half cents will ever be coined. There has been some talk of doing this, but nothing definite has been done.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1) Will you please tell me what games to play at a party to be given for both young and old by a ladies' Bible class? (2) How should the invitations be worded? L. M. D.

Pinpoint hints and potato rices always afford amusement. If the party is given around Easter little candy eggs might be used instead of peanuts. Then games such as "Wink," "Going to Jerusalem," "Hide the Thimble," "Ruth and Naomi" would be good. If you wish to know about any of these games send me an addressed stamped envelope and mention the games you wish to have described. (2) Formal invitations are not needed for a so-called affair. You might send out announcements telling simply who is giving the party, where it is to be held, and when, and extending an invitation in a cordial manner.

MOTIF FOR YOKE OF BABY'S DRESS.

This dainty design will make a charming finish for the yoke of a baby's dress. The flowers and leaves should be worked solid, and the dots as eyes, and the stems in the outline stitch. (See illustrated cotton No. 30 for the work.)

TALKS with our WOMEN READERS

Edna K. Wooler

talks with our women readers . . .

"You certainly have a bad cold," remarked one of the callers after the plump lady of the house had buried her face in her handkerchief for the twentieth time.

"And I wouldn't have had a cold at all this winter, I believe," declared the afflicted one, "if I hadn't locked myself out."

"Somebody rang the front door bell and I didn't stop to see if the inside door of the vestibule was unlatched; so when I opened the outside door the inside one slammed."

It was nothing but an old bill collector, too, for the family who lived here before we moved in. I told him he'd made me lock myself out, but he didn't seem to care.

"Well, I only had on a thin silk kimono and as we've just moved in I don't know any of the neighbors, so I couldn't ask one of them to take me in. And my nearest friend's house was too far away for me to be promenading along the streets in midwinter. The people would have thought I was another escaped hospital patient."

"I ran around to the kitchen door but found it locked. The door into the basement wasn't locked, though, and I chattered when I thought how easy it would be to get into the house by the inside kitchen door."

"But my face felt when I found that door locked, too. And I had to stay in that horribly cold basement for an hour and a half before my husband came home and let me in, with a scared expression, after I had shouted and rattled that kitchen doorknob and kicked the door for five minutes before he realized that it was I."

"And the worst of it was that the washwoman had hung all the clothes in the basement to dry because it was too cold to hang them in the yard. So I couldn't even keep warm by running around in a circle. 'Knock!'"

"I locked myself into the clothes room once," observed one of the callers. "I was putting away bedclothes and while I was reaching up to a high shelf a breeze from somewhere slammed the door shut."

"The door couldn't be opened from the inside and I realized I'd have to stay there till my daughter came

Jelly Roll Recipe

Only Two Eggs Required

By Mrs. Janet McKenzie Hill, Editor of the Boston Cooking School Magazine

This Jelly Roll is fast becoming very popular on account of the way it keeps fresh. With proper handling it should keep fresh a whole week, providing it isn't eaten up in the meantime, for it is every bit as good as it looks.

One cup sifted flour; scant half teaspoonful salt; 2 level teaspoonfuls K C Baking Powder; 1 egg; 1 cup sugar; 1 cup milk; 1 cup jelly; 20 drops sugar.

Beat the sugar into the egg; add the lemon rind, then the flour, sifted three times with the salt and baking powder, and, lastly, the milk. Bake in a buttered dripping pan; turn out on a damp cloth, trim off the crisp edges; spread with jelly and turn over and over into a roll while still warm. Dress the top with powdered sugar.

Hot milk used in the jelly roll enables it to be rolled without danger of cracking. Have the milk scalding hot, also be careful to have the eggs and sugar beaten together until very light and creamy. Bake in a moderate oven.

K C Jelly Roll is illustrated on page thirty-two of the new and handsomely illustrated 64-page K C Cook's Book, which may be secured free by sending the certificate packed in every 25-cent can of K C Baking Powder to the JACQUES SIRS, Co., Chicago, Ill.

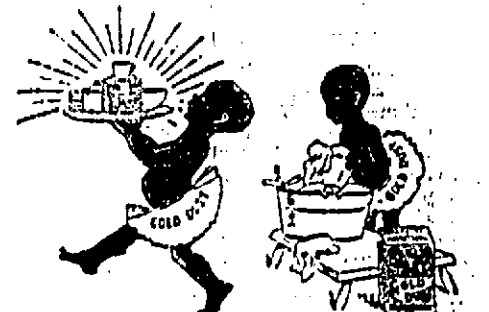

You wash dishes about two hours every day. That's one hour wasted!

Dishes get dirty, greasy and sticky and soap will not clean them. Soapy dish water merely cleans the surface; it doesn't dig into the corners and drive out the decayed food particles.

Gold Dust is the sanitary dish washer. It not only cleans the surface, but digs deep after hidden particles of dirt and kills the germs of decayed food which ordinary dish-water overlooks. Gold Dust sterilizes as well as cleanses.

Besides doing the work better than soap or any other cleanser can, Gold Dust will save just half the time you spend in washing dishes.

Gold Dust is sold in 5c size and large packages. The large package means greater economy.

DINNER STORIES

It was his first visit to America and he was anxious to see as much of it as possible in a short time. In a brief visit to the south he met an aged negro who had been a slave.

"How interesting!" he remarked. "And after the war you had your freedom?"

"The old man looked at him half sadly, half sheepishly, shook his head and said: 'No, sir, I didn't get no freedom—I went and got married.'"

A fashionably dressed young woman entered a postoffice in a large western city, hesitated a moment, and stepped up to the stamp window. The stamp clerk looked up expectantly, and she asked, "Do you sell stamps here?"

"The clerk politely answered, 'Yes,' and the woman asked, 'I would like to see some, please,' and the clerk handed out a large sheet of the twenty-cent variety, which the young woman carefully examined. Pointing to one near the center, she said, 'I will take this one, please.'"

George M. Cohan told a story about a veteran actor.

"The old boy at a certain banquet," he began, "was down for a toast on babies, but Mr. Roosevelt turned up at the last moment, so the babies' toast was naturally given to him, and the old fellow was shifted to a toast on the ladies instead."

"He spoke very well, and after he had done a comedian said to his aged wife: 'How well your husband acquitted himself!'"

"But she, poor old dear, was very deaf. She hadn't heard a word of the toast."

"What?" she said.

"How well your husband spoke on the ladies!"

"Oh, yes!" she said, and she added, "I had a nice little nap and woke up just a few minutes before I heard Little open the front door. Then I started pounding the door until she found out where I was. 'Why, mamma,' she said, 'what you doing in there?'"

"Taking a snooze," said I, and she looked at me the rest of the day as if she thought I wasn't quite responsible for my actions any more."

"I've got you all beaten in locked-out experiences," laughed the other caller. "I don't believe anybody EVER did anything as utterly ridiculous as I did."

"I had gone away from home and forgotten to take the keys with me. Of course when I returned I couldn't get in, and I was anxious to get in and have dinner ready for my husband when he came. Finally I found a window off the porch that wasn't locked."

"I climbed laboriously in, went up to my room, found the boys, came downstairs again, climbed laboriously out of the same window, went around to the front door, unlocked it and entered with a sigh of relief."

"Now if anybody can beat that, I'd like to hear from 'em."

Same Success Here As In Europe

Physicians Delighted By What New Tonic, Tona Vita, Has Done.

Tired out, run-down half sick people are not so numerous as they were a year ago. "Tona Vita" the great modern tonic has proved as successful in the United States as in Europe, and many thousands of Americans have been built up and restored to health by this medicine.

The physicians who introduced "Tona Vita" in this country are enthusiastic over the remarkable success of the medicine, and those who have been restored to health are also glad to tell what their experience has been.

Mrs. Smith, of Rochester, N. Y., a trained nurse for sixteen years, and a graduate of Bellevue Hospital, New York City, says:

"I have had no opportunity to take sufficient rest and during the past year this has told on me. My nerves began to trouble me. I have not been sleeping well and my appetite and digestion were not as they should be. I tired easily and did not have the vitality to withstand a hard day's work as formerly. This tonic 'Tona Vita' was recommended to me and I decided to give it a test. I have been greatly benefited in health and strength by this medicine. I sincerely believe the tonic to be highly meritorious, judging from my own experience."

Do you lack strength and vitality? Do you take cold easily and sleep poorly? Are you nervous and depressed? If so you are a sufferer from nervous debility and you should at once get a bottle of Tona Vita and see how quickly it will build you up.

RESURRECTION DAY HOPE OF HUMANITY

THE REV. J. C. HAZEN BRINGS
EASTER MESSAGE IN SERMON
AT BAPTIST CHURCH.

KNIGHTS AT SERVICE

Janesville Commandery No. 2 Knights Templars Hold Easter Devotions—O. E. S.
Present.

Bringing the message that the lea-sons of the Resurrection were the hope of mankind and that the risen Christ brought the Christian religion
to its fullest perfection, the Rev. J. C.
Hazen delivered a sermon of power
at the First Baptist church yesterday morning.

It was an Easter sermon in the true sense and was delivered to a large congregation which included
Janesville Commandery No. 2
Knights Templars and Janesville
Chapter No. 49, Order of Eastern Star who were especially invited for the Easter service.

The Knights held their regular Easter devotional services led by Prelate Alexander E. Matheson.

In beginning his sermon the Rev.
Hazen outlined briefly the incidents of the passion week. On Palm Sunday Jesus entered into Jerusalem amid a great crowd of cheering admirers who vied to do him homage.
Before the week passed these same people demanded his death and crucifixion. They gave him a trial that was a mockery and quickly and hurriedly they did the deed.

It was during the agony of this week, the speaker pointed out, that Jesus felt that he had almost failed.
His burdens were heavy; even his own followers and disciples turned away. It seemed as if his life's work had come to nothing.

"Then came the glory of the Resurrection morning. The two friends going to the tomb of Jesus find the stone rolled away. They are greeted by the angel who tells them their Master has gone out from death that he has risen and that he lives.

"From that time to this we have observed Easter Sunday, for in this lesson we have the joy, the hope,
the assurance of the resurrection, the certainty of a life beyond the grave.

"We are sometimes told that there are no new things, no new places, new experiences. It is said that what we say and do has been said and done before. And still in this day and age we are over hunting for the new ways, manners, methods; we are continually searching for something newer and greater. But we should be reminded sometimes that some of the best things are the old things.
They stand the test of ages and their truth and beauty are undeniable.

"There is little that is new that can be said of Christ's Resurrection. We have all heard the story, and we all know its blessed lesson of hope and power. It is a vital thing for the church and the disciples and followers of Christ who compose the church that the Resurrection took place. It is the fullest perfection of the Christian faith, it touches the greatest lesson."

The pastor then addressed the 812 Knights commending them for their long adherence to the faith and the beauty and sincerity of purpose of their order.

"But the hope of the Resurrection is for the individual. It is something which comes home especially to every man and woman and affects everyone. We are told today that there are fewer men entering the Christian ministry, that there is a smaller proportion of men attending church
now than formerly, that there is less interest in music, oratory, and poetry.
All this seems to be true. It is a day of facts, a day of reason but it is also questioned whether there is as much philosophy now as in a former time.
It may cause us a spirit of pessimism
and we wonder where we are drifting.
But the human race has a tendency to swing to opposites. We have been paying attention to business and material things and have done the one thing well. Now it is the one hope of mankind that they turn here and now to a realization of the lesson of the resurrection and observe it in spirit of purity and nobility.

But I believe that politics, business,
social life, the home and the church are all growing better. It comes from the hope and promise of the Risen Christ in our hearts and we are glad to be assured of a new life and a new hope.

"When we have closed out places of business for the last time, and when
for the last time we turn our faces homeward, and for the last time we pass the threshold of our own home, where then does your mind turn? It is the assurance of the Resurrection when we shall stand side by side with a gentle and forgiving Savior."

CHURCH SECRETARY PRAISES WORK DONE BY THE REV. BERGH

K. N. Grunhuud of Luther Valley
Church Near Oxford, Corrects
Report Regarding Resignation.

In a letter to the Gazette, K. N.
Grunhuud, secretary of the congregation of the Luther Valley church at Oxfordville, corrects a misleading report previously published in regard to the resignation of the Rev. J. A.
Bergh of the above named church,
and tells of the high service rendered by the pastor who has been at that parish since 1882. Mr. Grunhuud's letter is as follows:

Your paper contained a report, some time ago, in regard to the resignation of our old beloved pastor, which was surely not written by a friend of the Luther Valley church.

It was a misrepresentation and incorrect. As proof of this statement
I can mention: First, it was a small meeting; second, that the Rev. O. J.
Kvide was not invited by our congregation to attend our meeting; and third, that our proposal to a brotherly agreement was not rescinded.

It was on the request of the Synod Church that it was recommended and as this resolution was not passed on a motion from one of the winning side, it was on Thursday, April 4, declared illegal. The resolution to elect a committee to confer with a similar committee from the Synod Church was on this day repealed.

The meeting Thursday was one of the best attended meetings we have had for a long time. About 110 voting members were present. It was called to consider Rev. Bergh's resignation and to take preliminary steps to call his successor.

Rev. Bergh stated that his resignation was final, and it was accepted by a rising vote of 54 against 52.

Mr. Nils Fosha moved that the congregation, by a rising vote, declare their sincere thanks and complete satisfaction with the work of the Rev. J. A. Bergh. All voted in favor of the motion except 3 or 4 and none voted against it.

A committee of nine, with Rev.
Bergh as chairman, was elected to take under consideration the calling of a new pastor and to report to the congregation. Rev. Bergh promised to stay until a new pastor is secured.

In regard to Rev. Bergh's work in the Luther Valley church during his service of 30 years, I will glean from his report rendered today. He has baptized 1,171 children and two adults; he has confirmed 791 and has won a class of 30 which will be confirmed, if it is the will of God, this coming summer, making it a total of 821; he has married 255 couples; and has officiated at 605 funerals. There have been services once and twice every Sunday and other church holdays. Numerous visits to the sick have been made of which he has kept no account.

Nearly all the buildings on the parsonage site have been erected; addition was built to the west church and a furnace installed; the east church was repaired after the cyclone of 1884 and a full basement excavated with a furnace installed; the burying ground has been enlarged from one acre to four and three-fourth acres;
sheds and stables have been built around the church; all of which have been accomplished during his pastorate in the Luther Valley church.

The interest in Christian and church work is generally manifested by the interest taken for the mission field.
The report of the United church shows what the Luther Valley church has done for the mission since 1902. It reports previous to that time are not at hand: 1902, $36.23; 1903, $15.00; 1904, $143.00; 1905, $75.00; 1906,
$198.15; 1907, $175.49; 1908, no report;
1909, $243.31; 1910, $121.08; 1911,
$521.72.

The increasing sums to the mission in the latter years are largely due to the active work done by the ladies' aid societies. There were two when Rev. Bergh came, and now five and six are in the active work beside the young ladies aid society the "Dorens," which has done a vast amount of good not only for their own church at home, but for the church abroad.
They are now supporting a native missionary in Madagascar.

In regard to the finances of the church, the trustees' report shows that during the eighteen years we were somewhat in arrears and experienced some difficulties, but in later years we have had a surplus especially on the minister's salary. When we have lacked in the running expenses we have generally had enough surplus of the minister's salary to counterbalance the deficiency except last year when we were obliged to rescind the houses on the parsonage and pay an extra $40 due the Synod congregation in Oxfordville for the use of their church.

When the Rev. J. A. Bergh came here in 1882 the congregation was composed of 111 families, 320 confirmed members, and 571 souls. Now it consists of 280 families, 790 confirmed members, and 1,173 souls. It must also be remembered that a large number have emigrated to Deloit and formed the nucleus of the Bethlehem church, which Rev. Bergh organized and is now served by the Rev. J. W.
Brown as pastor.

It is customary for neighboring farmers to take a retrospective view over the past year and compare notes.
That is also done in church work.
Last year the chairman of the Synod made several comparisons between that body and the United church. In making comparison between the Luther Valley church and its neighbor congregation it must be remembered that they have the advantage of having their churches in cities, and a minister in his prime years.

The official report shows that the Rock Prairie congregation in 1882 had 308 confirmed members, and 495 souls. The same congregation which now is known as the Luther Valley church of Oxfordville is reported 1911, to have 310 confirmed members and 451 souls.

NOW! Watch Her Face Change

Tomorrow the lady's countenance will change entirely. Watch for it.

Something has happened again.

But nothing dreadful this time.

She has solved the greatest baking problem of her life.

She has discovered the cause of her many failures
— she knows why the biscuits were flat — the cake sad — the pies tough and unpalatable.

So she has good news for every women who bakes.

Yesterday she baked again — she discarded the cheap, quantity kind entirely.

Now everything is lovely — she is happy and contented.

In our next announcement she will tell her complete story — watch for it.

It's the sweetest story ever told.

Kodak Booklets.
A Kodak owner printed some good negatives in soft sepia shades and mounted them in books made from heavy tinted paper, tying the booklets with pretty ribbon. An aunt, who never saw a mountain, enjoyed pictures of South Chyenne canyon, Colorado. Another liked the homes of several relatives. Grandmother enjoyed a variety of snapshots of her grandchildren. A dozen negatives can be made in very short time and will cost less than $1.—Woman's Home Companion.

The DIAMOND CIPHER

A Baseball Romance
By W.A. PHILON

(Copyright 1912 of W.A. PHILON. Copyright in Canada and Great Britain.)
"Just a small errand, Mr. Brockett. Kindly run over to the secretary of war and the secretary of the navy. Ask them if they can come over here within the next hour. Then go and attend to your baseball difficulties with a clear conscience. That's all."

Brockett was opening the door, when Pinkwell reached out a detaining hand. "Son," remarked the old detective, "this cipher of yours is certainly bewildering. That is supposed to be the best point about successful ciphers, I believe. Tell me, my boy—can you read it yourself?"

"Why, of course. It's so simple that I don't even need a written key."
"Indeed? Suppose you demonstrate it to us, just for a moment. Are you agreeable, chief?"

"Go as far as you like, Billy," the chief assented. "I'll confess—considering our conversation of a little while ago—that I'm interested too. Mr. Brockett, suppose you write, in your cipher, a transcription of a few words I will give you and then let us try to dissect it?"

The young fellow took the chair at which the chief motioned, drew a pencil from his pocket, and ripped the top sheet from a paper pad. Chief Wilkins studied for a moment, and then dictated, slowly and concisely: "Watch below Langtry till further orders. Reported force of 300 insurgents near by."

Brockett wrote briskly for a few minutes, and then handed the chief a strange conglomeration.
H B P O S T O R 3 D H A H S H P O T C H H P O S T O R 2 D H I T W W P
T O H R P O S H P I A W T O 3 D H S H W T C W H H S H W L
W S H P A T C W T O S H D H S B T C W R S H L H P a c k e t
H R E L A W S H W S H R T O T C L E S H P O S W A B W P.

Wilkins and Pinkwell gazed at that strange document for several minutes, with faces which changed from good-natured rillery to perplexity, and then to honest interest. Young Brockett, hand upon the doorknob, waited for the verdict. The chief folded the slip of paper, and thrust it in a pocket.

"Shall I leave you the key to the cipher, Mr. Wilkins?" asked the youngster.
"No. We'll see what we can do with it just from the original dictation. On your way now, my boy—kindly tend to your errand. And—and—will you report to me, personally, half an hour before your usual time tomorrow?"

Brockett was almost across the threshold, when the voice of Pinkwell halted him.
"Son," asked the old detective, "what do you call this chart of yours?"
"The Diamond Cipher, sir."

CHAPTER II.

Brockett, eager to conclude his errand and join his companions, lost no time on the road. By five o'clock the tall youngster was busily engaged in an argument, accompanied by practical demonstrations pro and con, as to the utility of the Lange steel. Some twenty of Brockett's friends—clerks like himself, collectors home on vacation, and even the two sons of a St. Louis league official—debated the practicability of the trick by which Bill Lange, the great star of the long ago, was wont to annex the middle station. Brockett and half the crowd maintained that the steel was not only possible but almost unstopable; the St. Louis youngsters and the rest of the little gathering declared that an alert battery, backed by quick-thinking fielders, would make the play a certain loser.

"You have a catcher with any head and any arm at all," declaimed Chula Lan Kon of Sam and Princeton, "and a second baseman who can come up fast to the bag, and you can't put it over. No chance excepting on a muff or a wild throw."

Heure in this steel at all. He is a dead one. He is exactly as if he had never existed. The trick in the Lange steel is to stop on first till the pitch is over, and then, when the catcher begins to return the ball to the pitcher, you go down. It's three to one, easy, that the pitcher will get rattled and throw wide, or that the second baseman, not figuring on a steal, has moved away to play for the batsman."

"A pitcher who keeps his wits about him," negatived Ramon Solano, the junior cashier of the Cuban tobacco house, "wouldn't fall for that play at all. Try it, with me on the slab, and see how it goes through."

girl's hand into that of her new-met friend. The little man bowed again; Miss Lawson walked on, and the little man came down the street with a rapid, jaunty stride. As he passed the boys, his face was for an instant in the dying light of the day, and the strong, brown features, with a wide scar across one cheek, were clearly outlined.
He was a Japanese.

When Brockett presented himself at Chief Wilkins' private office in the morning, none of the other clerks had as yet appeared. Miss Lawson, however, was already at her desk—it had long been her custom to come early and work late, with an intelligence, a faithfulness, and an attention to detail which had won her repeated commendations from the chief. As Brockett crossed the office and halted at the chief's particular door, the girl looked up, threw the boy a sunshiny smile, and resumed the polishing of some small factor of her typewriter.

Brockett returned the smile, knocked lightly on the frosted glass, and heard a loud "Come in."

Chief Wilkins sat at his desk, flanked by the burly Mr. Pinkwell. Three big leather chairs nearby were occupied by three stately gentlemen, whom Brockett, with natural surprise, recognized as the secretary of war, the secretary of the navy, and General Cole, commander of the army. The boy, thus precipitated into a distinguished concourse, could only struggle against sudden dispersal of his thoughts and senses into the samplance of a cloud of wandering bees, and, in default of a clear comprehension of the situation, could only stare inquiringly at the grim face of the chief.

"Mr. Brockett," came the inclusive tones of the chief, cutting through the boy's understanding like a spear-point thrown from a long, long distance, "will you give these gentlemen another demonstration of your cipher?"

The spear-point went clear through, and Brockett woke up.
"Why—yes—of course. How shall I demonstrate it?"
"Suppose," explained the chief, "we have General Cole dictate a sentence to you. Write out that sentence in your cipher. Then read the sentence back again to us—just to show that the cipher is clearly intelligible to you yourself. After that—if you so wish—explain the key of the cipher."

Brockett had shaken himself together, and the group of dignitaries no longer overawed him. "And pencil ready," he waited for the general's words, and the soldier, slowly, tentatively, dictated.
"Send Eighth cavalry, 385 men, to Laredo. Support with First Infantry by Friday. No guns at present."

Brockett pencilled briskly, and handed the general a sheet scribbled bewilderingly in this fashion:
L S H E H D O S T O N R P O S T P O S H W P C O H I T O T C P O S W S H B I T C L A H P A T C W T O H R T O 3 D H C H H R E S H P O S E L W P W P U N E 2 D H A H E L P O S T O P A

There are however one or two things that may put a damper on the whole business. I worry me! Our infield has a weak spot and our pitchers may not be in form!

You Can Make Your Farm Pay 6% on $1000 Per Acre Value

There is one piece of ground on Frank Mann's farm, near Gilman, Ill., that for seven years produced an average of 5 tons of alfalfa per acre. The next year it produced 20 tons of silage per acre, the next 115 bushels of corn, then 88½ bushels of oats, and last year 52½ bushels of wheat. The average gross return each year for these eleven years was more than $80 per acre. Making a most liberal allowance for all the labor and other expense of growing the crops, there is still enough net profit to pay 6 per cent interest on a valuation of $1,000 per acre. Land is worth as much money as the crops will pay interest on.

You Can Farm Like Frank Mann

You can make your farm worth $1,000 an acre by raising crops like Frank Mann's. FRANK MANN'S SOIL BOOK will tell you how. This book contains the meat of the practical experience of a man who has made good. It puts forward no unproven theories. Every point that the author makes is proved by facts from his own farm. It is a book of practical experience that any Middle Western farmer can follow on his own farm, and double his profits while he is doing it.

MEN ARE HELPLESS AS CHILDREN

When Taken Suddenly Ill—Here is a Common-Sense Safeguard

Big, strong man is as helpless infant when he is suddenly ill.

The sturdiest chap in town usually loses his self-control, and is utterly unable to regard his condition with the common sense that characterizes his every-day actions.

For example: He comes home tired, eats a heavy dinner and sits down to read and smoke away a quiet evening.

Suddenly he notices a weight on his stomach, then sharp pains around his heart, and a feeling of suffocation. Thoughts of "heart disease" rush over him, and in his agony he fears the worst.

His trouble was acute indigestion, brought on by overloading his tired stomach.

A couple of Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets might have given him relief—might have saved him hours of suffering.

Carry a package of Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets in your vest pocket or keep them in your room. Take one after each heavy meal, and ward off indigestion.

Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets relieve stomach troubles by aiding nature to supply those elements, the absence of which in the gastric juices, cause indigestion and dyspepsia. They tend to add the stomach to digest all kinds of food and to quickly convert it into rich red blood.

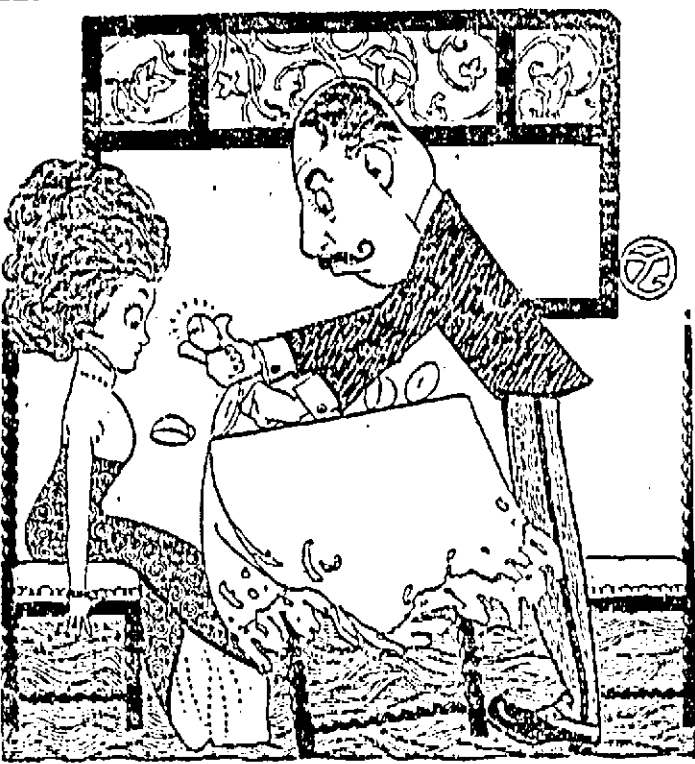

We know what Rexall Dyspepsia Tablets are and what they will do. We guarantee them to relieve indigestion and dyspepsia. If they fail, we will refund your money.

Three sizes, 25 cents, 50 cents, and $1.00. Sold only at our stores or by mail. Remember, you can obtain Rexall Remedies in this community at our store—The Rexall Store.

SIDEWALK SKETCHES.

STARS.

By Howard L. Rann.

The stars are patient hosts of burden, to which the intrepid girl gradually latches her wits in the presence of a large and attentive audience. It is calculated that all of the stars in slight have been led into the shafts
by the 1911 crop
of graduates, and that those who follow after will have to break in
to the second row
of nebulae or fall
back on John of Arc. The stars
are the original insurgents. They formerly belonged to the sun, but became disintegrated with the administration and were set out side to cool off. Several of these stars got together and organized the Milky Way, which can be seen on a clear night by anybody with a pair of opera glasses and a jointed neck. Astronomers tell us that the Milky Way has everything necessary for the production of 50-cent butter except milk cows and the Elgin system of market quotations, which has no rival in this world or the next. Wandering stars are those which are not pinned on firmly and board around among their relatives most of the time. A shooting star is one which has been transferred to the night shift on account of exceeding the speed limit. A comet is a star with a tail which is not subject to the recall and is liable at any moment to start a puncture in the solar system. On this account, when a comet heads this way a great many people begin to attend Sunday School and get on speaking terms with the golden text. Nobody ever tried to count the stars without being led into a padded cell or becoming so cross-eyed that he couldn't tell the Big Dipper from a ten-cent nail. The only star which doesn't do any gadding is usually harassed up with the mariner's compass and prevents an ocean liner from striking flunko 8's in the trackless main. Some stars are so far away that the hold no conversation with them on any topic, while others are so close at hand that people address them by their first names.

Never Satisfied.
The man who marries for money
always thinks he is underpaid.

I believe in teaching man, teaching them with voice and pen, that the honest way's the best to let the tale;
but the man of action, he knows that his neighbors put in jail. I believe in showing boys that the purest, sweetest joys are the joys that do not leave them feeling alone, but my neighbor, John Yaw, blows a whistle for the cop, and he's happy when he sees the boys in jail. If a man commits a crime, I believe it's wasted time when we ride him through the village on a rail; better teach him what is right—but old Jonas takes delight when he sees the mischief-maker rushed to jail. I can watch the rich man float in his glided palace boat, and can wish him happy zephyrs on his sail; but old Jonas sees him go with a bitter swirl of woe, crying loudly: "All the rich should be in jail!" We are trying,
one and all, to improve this muddy ball, and I surely hope our efforts will not fail; but I don't believe we'll make noble progress till we shake this old foolishness of sending men to jail.
Oh, I don't believe it well to herd people in a cell till they're hardened in their sin—without the pole; let us

try to lead them back when they've jumped the whining track, for you can't reform the guy who rots in jail.

Make a Friend a Day.
One of the busiest men in a busy city says: "I try to make at least one friend a day." That seems more than most of us can manage, and yet the wayable spring on the country road makes a friend of every passerby.

Would Be Great Step in Advance.
Confidence between employer and employee would not only solve the social problem, but would rid us of a great many evils in existence at the present day.

A QUARTER SECTION OF IOWA LAND.

and a few years of push and hustle means a competence. Crop failures are unknown in Iowa.
And a year's work is always rewarded with a year's crop.
I've got a quarter of this land that must be sold at once and it's a bargain if, taken quick. Well improved, house, barn, good out-buildings, orchards, plenty of water; an ideal country home.
